1106		1943 US Army Colt M1911A1 Pistol .45 1153291 (C) Here is a remarkable, and highly desirable 1943 dated U.S. Army Colt M1911A1 pistol chambered in .45 caliber. Serving through both World Wars, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War, the M1911 was the standard issue sidearm of the United States Armed Forces from 1911 to 1985. This single-action, recoil operated semi-automatic pistol is renowned for its reliability and stopping power and has made a mark in the history books of the U.S. Armed Forces. The M1911A1 went through a few design changes from the original model to include, a shorter trigger, a curved mainspring housing, finger relief cutouts to the frame behind the trigger, extended grip safety spur to prevent "hammer bite," and a wider front sight and a square-notch rear sight for faster target acquisition. This particular pistol displays the "M1911A1 U.S. Army" and "United States Property" stampings on the right side of the frame, along with the serial number "1153291." A crossed cannons ordnance stamp is also clearly visible on the right side of the frame behind the grip panel. The left side of the frame displays the inspector mark for Brig General Guy H. Drewry "GHD", along with the "P" proof marking. The trigger guard has the "VP" in a triangle, "48", and "F" stampings. Barrel is marked "Colt 45 Auto" with a "F" and "P" stamping. The parkerized finish is in really good condition for its age, only showing holster wear on the edges and little wear on the slide from the action. Bore and rifling are clean and in good condition. The plastic grips are like new, showing no wear. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Comes with one blued magazine with no markings. This is a phenomenal piece of military and firearm history that is well preserved. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 1153291. C&R Eligible. Start price: $1,300 Estimate: $2,500 - $100,000

1141		Classic Springfield Bolt Action Rifle .22c NSN (C) This is a classic single-shot bolt-action, rimfire rifle manufactured by Springfield Arms Company. Chambered in .22 Short/Long and featuring a 24-inch barrel, it is similar to the Model 15, which was produced primarily during the late 1930s and into the 1940s for the "boy's rifle" market. The model was branded as an affordable yet reliable option for small game and target practice. The wood stock has a high-gloss lacquer finish and is in good condition for its age, with no cracks and major dings. The metal surfaces show an honest, aged patina with areas of thinning bluing and minor surface oxidation typical of a mid-century field rifle. Bore is clean and rifling shows rounding. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Rifle comes with a padded soft carrying case. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: NSN. C&R Eligible. Start price: $40 Estimate: $80 - $1,000

1142		US Springfield Model 1903 Rifle .30-06 319140 (C) Here is a classic American military icon: the U.S. Springfield Model 1903 rifle chambered in .30-06 with serial number 31914. Manufactured in 1908, the receiver is clearly stamped with the Springfield Armory nomenclature and "1903". The rifle has a replaced 22-inch barrel and is not equipped with a fix front sight, however, it does have a removable hood. A Redfield rear target sight is attached to the receiver. The wood stock is a 1903A3 stock with no visible cartouches. Overall, the stock is on good condition, showing no major dings or scratches. The finish on the barrel and receiver shows thinning and an honest, attractive patina consistent with age and service. Bore is clean and the rifling is good, but has rounded edges. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. This is a great rifle for a new re-enactor looking to complete their impression, or someone that wants a vintage gun to target shot. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 319140. C&R Eligible. Start price: $200 Estimate: $400 - $10,000

It features a 20-inch DTI barrel with a 1:8 twist and is chambered in 5.56 NATO. The finish is 99% and the furniture is in excellent condition. Bore is clean and rifling is sharp. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Rifle comes with a padded soft carrying case and three 30-round Magpul magazines. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: L03809 Start price: $200 Estimate: $350 - $10,000
1144		Swiss Vetterli Mod 1878/81 Rifle 10.4x38mm 88734 (A) This is a remarkably well-preserved example of a Swiss Model 1878/81 Vetterli rimfire repeating rifle chambered in 10.4x38mm with a 27-inch barrel. Manufactured by Soc. Ind. Suisse (SIG Neuhausen) under the Syst. Vetterli patent, this piece features the iconic bolt-action design with a side-loading gate for its tubular magazine. The receiver is clearly stamped with the Swiss cross and serial number 88734, which is matching on the barrel and floor plate. It retains an original Vetterli wood stock, which has been sporterized and modeled after the 1869/71 stock. The metal surfaces show a consistent, honest patina with some thinning of the original finish and scattered surface oxidation typical of its 19th-century military service. The wood shows expected handling marks, small indentations, and light scuffs, but remains structurally sound with no visible cracks. Bore is good, with some very light freckling, and the rifling is rounded. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. For its age, the rifle is in overall good condition. The rifle comes with a hard plastic case. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N:88734. Classified Antique. 1145		*RARE Beretta BM59 Rifle 7.62 NATO X001352 CANNOT SELL TO ILLINOIS RESIDENTS A desirable, never fired Beretta BM59 semi-automatic rifle chamber in 7.62 NATO and imported by Springfield Armory. After Beretta ceased direct imports in 1984, Springfield Armory's purchased the original Italian machinery, tooling, and thousands of receiver forgings and parts. Using the new old stock Italian parts, Springfield Armory assembled these components into complete rifles in the U.S. and stamped their name on the side of the receiver. Chambered in 7.62 NATO, the BM59 was an Italian battle rifle developed in 1959 and resembled the American M14. It features a detachable 20-round box magazine, integrated folding bipod, grenade launcher sight, and the distinctive "tri-compensator" flash hider/muzzle brake/launcher. This specific rifle's receiver is clearly marked "P. BERETTA 7.62mm BM 59" with the Gardone V.T. Italia origin and serial number X001352. Notably, the receiver bears "SPRINGFIELD ARMORY" markings on the left side. Many of the small parts are stamped "PB BM59", indicating the use of original Italian surplus parts. The walnut furniture is in excellent condition, showing no marks or dings. Metal retains a strong parkerized finish, which is 99%. The single magazine bearing the markings "PB BM59". Bore and rifling are mint. . Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: X001352 Start price: $900 Estimate: $1,800 - $10,000
1146		1922 Swedish M96 Mauser Rifle 6.5mm 500740 (C) This sporterized Swedish M96 Mauser began its life as a military-grade firearm at the Carl Gustafs Stads Gevärsfaktori in 1922, as indicated by the crisp receiver crown and markings. Chambered for the famously accurate 6.5x55mm cartridge, this rifle features a 23.5-inch barrel, a modern black synthetic stock with textured grip panels, a polished bolt with a turned-down handle for easier cycling, and bears serial number of 500740. The bolt, receiver, and floor plate numbers all match. Metal finish shows typical light thinning and surface wear consistent with age, and the synthetic stock remains in excellent condition with light handling marks. Bore is clean and rifling is crisp. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Overall, this rifle is really clean. Rifle comes with a hard plastic case. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 500740. C&R Eligible. Start price: $170 Estimate: $300 - $10,000

1148		MINT Ithaca-SKB Model 500 Shotgun 20g S6500817 The Ithaca-SKB Model 500 is a Japanese-manufactured, break-auction, over-under shotgun highly regarded for its balance, quick handling, and robust construction. It is known as a reliable field gun for upland hunting and clay shooting. This shotgun features 26-inch vented rib barrels that are chambered in 20 gauge and hold both 2¾" and 3" magnum shells. The barrels are equipped with a modified and an improved choke, along with an automatic selective ejectors. It has a single gold-plated trigger. The receiver displays script work throughout. Finish is mint, like it just left the factory floor. Bore is clean and shiny. The matching wood, checkered stock and forend are almost perfect, with little to no wear. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: S6500817 Start price: $400 Estimate: $600 - $10,000
1149		*Volunteer Entp Commando Mark 45 .45ACP 65126 CANNOT SELL TO ILLINOIS RESIDENTS Here is a reproduction of the iconic Thompson machine gun of World War II, a Volunteer Enterprises Commando Mark 45. This is a semi-automatic rifle chambered in .45 ACP, manufactured in Knoxville, Tennessee, from 1976 to the 1990. It features a 16-inch barrel with a fake compensator and finned barrel shroud, a fixed aperture rear sight, and a polymer lower receiver. The Walnut stock, forearm and pistol grip all match and are in really good condition. Blued finish is at 90% with minor wear/fade. Comes with two 30-round stick magazines and a canvas sling. Bore and rifling are in excellent condition. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 65126 Start price: $400 Estimate: $700 - $10,000
1150		British Enfield No.4 Mk I Rifle .303 T38088 (C) A classic British Lee-Enfield No. 4 Mk I, bolt-action rifle, manufactured in 1945 and chambered in British .303 caliber. The Enfield No. 4 Mk I served as the primary, standard-issue infantry weapon for British and Commonwealth forces during World War II and was designed for wartime mass production. On this particular rifle, the markings indicate it underwent a "Factory Thorough Repair" (FTR) at the Fazakerley (F) Royal ordnance factory, with a 1949 date stamp on the receiver. This rifle also has been "sporterized," with the original military forestock and handguards cut down, a common modification by hunters in the mid-20th century. The original serial number "14147A" is faintly visible on the wrist collar. The metal shows remnants of the original factory finish, with visible thinning and honest wear consistent with age and field use. The wood stock displays various dings, scratches, and a dark patina from use. Bore is good and the rifling is prominent. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: T38088. C&R Eligible. Start price: $200 Estimate: $400 - $10,000
1151		1945 Mosin-Nagant M44 Carbine 7.62x54R TF5875 (C) Mosin-Nagant M44 Carbine produced at the famed Izhevsk Arsenal in 1945. This late-war example features the iconic hammer and sickle inside a wheat wreath and the Izhevsk arsenal mark. The receiver and magazine floorplate show matching serial numbers (??5875), while the bolt (??3782) appears to be a non-matching replacement, which is common for these surplus rifles. The stock has been upgraded to a black synthetic Monte Carlo-style stock with a padded nylon sling. The metal finish is in good condition, showing light thinning consistent with age and service, and the synthetic stock is in excellent condition. Bore is in good condition and rifling is strong. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. The rifle comes with a hard plastic case. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N:TF5875. C&R Eligible. Start price: $150 Estimate: $300 - $10,000

1152		Eibar M92 .38 4" Revolver (C) D56652 Eibar M92 .38 4" Revolver in fair condition with wear. The finish is in the white. The bore is very good. The action has a hitch, the cylinder must be wiggled for a second trigger pull. This is Spain's copy of an S&W Hand Ejector. C&R Eligible S/N:D56652 Start price: $70 Estimate: $150 - $1,000
1152a		Merwin & Hulbert 1873 .44-40 Revolver 278 (A) Merwin & Hulbert 1873 .44-40 Revolver in excellent vintage condition with an excellent bore. Folding hammer. Jesse James, Bass Reeves, Pat Garret, were all users of what was considered to be the best made and most innovative of the Large Frontier Revolvers, the products of Merwin, Hulbert Co., including the very well known example we have here a 3rd Model Pocket Army in the man killing .44-40 caliber. Known as the "Skull Crusher" due to the heavy extended birdshead grip. This is a great example with the factory original black grips and the company standard nickel finish. The gun has seen little actual use with a excellent bore and no evidence of corrosive black powder use and about 85% of the original nickel finish remaining. Mechanically the gun is tight. At the time of its widespread use on the Frontier of the Old West, the Merwin Hulbert Large Frame Revolvers were highly thought of. They could be unloaded and reloaded more quickly than any other revolver of the day and they were much stronger and were built like a Swiss Watch with tolerances that are the equal of anything made today, 150 years later. Indeed a serious attempt was made to reproduce them in 2014 and it came to naught because of the high cost that would be involved in re-creating such intricate perfection. S/N:278. Classified Antique. Start price: $2,500 Estimate: $5,000 - $6,500
1153		Uberti SAA 45Colt 7.5" Revolver P64573 Uberti SAA 45Colt 7.5" Black Powder Frame Revolver in very good condition with wear and a couple scratches. Faux "Stag" grips. The bore is sharp but has a orange hue. S/N:P64573 Start price: $300 Estimate: $500 - $1,000

1158		1944 US Army Colt M1911A1 Pistol .45 1724089 (C) A beautiful and highly desirable 1944 dated U.S. Army Colt M1911A1 pistol chambered in .45 caliber. Serving through both World Wars, the Korean War, and the Vietnam War, the M1911 was the standard issue sidearm of the United States Armed Forces from 1911 to 1985. This single-action, recoil operated semi-automatic pistol is renowned for its reliability and stopping power and has made a mark in the history books of the U.S. Armed Forces. The M1911A1 went through a few design changes from the original model to include, a shorter trigger, a curved mainspring housing, finger relief cutouts to the frame behind the trigger, extended grip safety spur to prevent "hammer bite," and a wider front sight and a square-notch rear sight for faster target acquisition. This particular pistol displays the "M1911A1 U.S. Army" and "United States Property" stampings on the right side of the frame, along with the serial number "1724089." A crossed cannons ordnance stamp is also visible on the right side of the frame behind the grip panel. The left side of the frame displays the inspector mark for Brig General Guy H. Drewry "GHD", along with the "P" proof marking. The trigger guard has the "VP" in a triangle, "21", and "F" stampings. Barrel is marked with a "HS" (High Standard) and "P" stamping. The parkerized finish is in really good condition for its age, only showing holster wear on the edges and little wear on the slide from the action. Bore and rifling are clean and in good condition. The wood grips are like new, showing little to no wear. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Comes with one blued magazine with no markings. This is a phenomenal piece of military and firearm history that is well preserved. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 1724089. C&R Eligible. Start price: $1,300 Estimate: $2,500 - $100,000

The M1911 was the standard issue sidearm of the United States Armed Forces from 1911 to 1985. This single-action, recoil operated semi-automatic pistol is renowned for its reliability and stopping power and has made a mark in the history books of the U.S. Armed Forces. This particular pistol displays the “Model of 1911. U.S. Army” stamping on the right side of the slide, along with the serial number “139163” on the frame. The left side of the frame displays “United States Property” and the inspector mark for Colonel Gilbert H. Stewart (GHS). Barrel is marked with a “H” and “P” stamping, which is correct for 1917 manufactured 1911. The blued finish is in really good condition for its age, showing holster wear on the edges and fading on the grip straps. Barrel does show finish wear from use. Bore and rifling are clean and in good condition. The wood grips are in excellent condition, showing little wear. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Comes with one period correct, half blued magazine with no markings. This is a phenomenal piece of military and firearm history that is well preserved. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 139163 C&R Eligible. Start price: $1,500 Estimate: $3,000 - $100,000

1180		Late WWII Arisaka Type 99 Rifle 7.7mm 88987 (C) This is a Japanese Arisaka Type 99 bolt-action rifle, a staple of the Imperial Japanese Army during World War II. This particular rifle was manufactured at the Kokura Arsenal, evidenced by the specific stacked cannonball arsenal mark on the receiver's left side. The Imperial Chrysanthemum (Mum) is visible on the top of the receiver, however, is worn. The rifle features the late war "last ditch" style wood stock, with the short-handguard, wooden buttplate, and the lack of finger grooves. The wood shows a dark, aged patina with various handling marks, compressions, and a visible seam in the buttstock, a characteristic of Japanese two-piece stock construction. The metal surfaces exhibit a consistent brown-grey patina and thinning finish throughout. Rifle is equipped with the last-ditch style front sight and the fixed rear peep sight. The bolt and receiver have matching numbers. Bore is good and rifling is rounded as expected for a last ditch gun. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 88987. C&R Eligible. Start price: $150 Estimate: $300 - $10,000
1181		Marlin Model 336; 30-30 Win Carbine; (C) This is a classic American lever-action brush gun, a Marlin Model 336 chambered in the venerable .30-30 Winchester. This particular piece features the highly desirable "JM" proof mark on the barrel, signifying it was manufactured by the original Marlin Firearms Co. in North Haven, Connecticut. It boasts a Micro-Groove barrel and the signature gold-plated trigger. The walnut stock and forend show a warm grain, paired with the iconic side-ejection receiver. Based on the serial number 24043687, and using the Marlin subtraction date code (100 - 24), this rifle was manufactured in 1976. As it is now 2026, this firearm is 50 years old and qualifies for Curio & Relic (C&R) eligibility. The firearm is in good overall condition, showing some honest thinning and wear on the receiver's finish and light handling marks on the wood; the bore shows some pitting but retains strong rifling and would benefit from a thorough cleaning. H 5.5", W 38.25", D 1.5". S/N 24043687; C&R eligible. Please see photos for condition. Start price: $300 Estimate: $600 - $10,000

1182		Arisaka Type 38 "Sakai" Training Rifle 3773 (C) This is a Japanese Arisaka Type 38 training rifle chambered in 6.5x50mmSR Arisaka. Unlike standard service rifles, this example features a smoothbore barrel and was designed for instructional use with blanks or wooden bullets. The receiver is marked with an "S" in a Star/Cherry Blossom, the logo for Sakai Manufacturing who produced the Sakai Training Rifles. It also displays serial number 3773 and features the characteristic dual gas relief holes. The wooden stock shows a distinct kanji cartouche on the buttstock, indicating that the rifle was part of The Imperial Reservist Association. This association was a massive, state-sponsored organization in Imperial Japan (founded in 1910) and one of their functions was military training of the youth. Receiver and barrel exhibits remnants of its original finish with thinning and patina visible. The wooden stock has various scuffs, indentations, and signs of field use, though it remains structurally sound. It also displays the serial number "3773" stamped into the forend. The butt stock does show wood separation. Bore is dark and shows oxidation. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. This is an excellent piece of Imperial Japanese military history and would highlight any collection. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 3773 C&R Eligible. Start price: $125 Estimate: $250 - $10,000
1183		Remington Nylon 66 .22 LR Rifle (C) This Remington Nylon 66 is a classic piece of American engineering, featuring the iconic "Mohawk Brown" Zytel nylon stock that made these rifles famous for their near-indestructible nature and lightweight handling. Produced in Ilion, NY, this semi-automatic rimfire rifle utilizes a tube-fed magazine through the buttstock and is marked "22 L.R. ONLY" on the barrel. The barrel stampings include date codes "PM 3" and "A K," suggesting a production date in the mid-1960s. The rifle features the signature white diamond inlay on the forend and a black grip cap with the "Nylon 66" logo. Overall, the piece is in good aesthetic and functional condition, with minor handling marks on the synthetic stock and light thinning of the blued finish on the receiver cover and barrel. The rifling remains sharp and well-defined. H 5", W 38.5", D 2". Please see photos for condition. .22LR; NSN; C&R Eligible. Start price: $150 Estimate: $300 - $10,000
1184		RARE Remington Model 8 Rifle .30-30 Rem 32641 (C) A classic John Browning-designed Remington Model 8 semi-automatic rifle, famously known as the rifle of choice for lawman Frank Hamer, the man that took down Bonnie and Clyde. Manufactured in 1913, this particular rifle features a 22-inch barrel, chambered in .30-30 (.30 Rem). The rifle has a deep blued finish on the receiver and barrel jacket, a straight-grip walnut stock, and the iconic "Remington UMC" checkered buttplate. The receiver is marked with serial number 32641. Bluing remains strong with light surface scratches and minor thinning at the high edges. The walnut furniture is in great condition and displays a rich patina with scattered small dings and compression marks. Bore is clean and rifling is good. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. This "long-recoil" action rifle represents a pivotal moment in American firearms history as the first commercially successful high-power semi-auto. It would highlight any collection. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 32641. C&R Eligible. Start price: $600 Estimate: $1,000 - $10,000

1185		BEAUTIFUL Remington Model 8 Tooled Leather Case This is a beautiful example of a vintage, custom-fitted hard leather takedown case, specifically designed for the iconic Remington Model 8 or 81 Woodsmaster rifles. A true find for the serious firearms collector, this case features a rigid, construction with rich, deep brown leather and classic Western-style floral and geometric tooling on the main body. The brass hardware (buckles and D-ring) remains intact, and the top-loading cap is secured by a heavy-duty leather strap. Stamped markings "1756F" and "26" are visible on the closure caps. The interior is lined with green felt and is divided to safely house the barreled action and the stock assembly separately. Overall, leather is in good, supple condition with a lovely aged patina; there is some light scuffing and surface wear consistent with field use. The case also comes with a brass cleaning rod designed for the firearm. L 28.75", W 8", D 3.75" Start price: $100 Estimate: $200 - $10,000
1186		US Krag Model 1896 Carbine .30-40Krag 57976 (A) This is a US Springfield Armory Krag-Jorgenson Model 1896 Rifle manufactured in 1897 and chambered in .30-40 Krag. Used as the standard issued rifle during the Spanish American War era, the Krag saw less than a decade of service before it was replaced by the newer Model 1903. This particular rifle has been sporterized, with its front site replaced and its original stock modified. It does appear to have an original 22-inch barrel that has been unmodified in length. Markings are clean and crisp and the finish exhibits some of its original bluing, with visible oxidation and patina. The wood stock is in solid condition and displays a hand engraved outdoor motif and checkered pattern. Stock has some dings and scratches from use and storage. Bore is clean and rifling is prominent. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 57976. Classified Antique. Start price: $130 Estimate: $275 - $10,000
1187		Winchester Model 1890 Pump Rifle, .22 Short (C) This Winchester Model 1890 is a classic "gallery gun," featuring the iconic octagonal barrel and slide-action design that defined early 20th-century American target shooting. Manufactured by Winchester Repeating Arms Co. in New Haven, Connecticut, this specimen features an exposed hammer and a crescent metal buttplate. The barrel markings remain legible, showcasing patent dates from 1888 through 1911. Notably, this rifle is a non-matching assembly; the receiver serial number 617930 dates to approximately 1919, while the lower frame number 478481A dates to roughly 1912. The steel displays a heavy, honest brown patina with surface oxidation and scattered pitting consistent with age. The walnut furniture shows typical field wear including bruising and scratches, but remains structurally sound with no cracks or chips visible. The bore is dark with visible oxidation. H 5.25", W 40.25", D 1.25"..22Short; SN: 460813A/617930; C&R Eligible. Start price: $120 Estimate: $250 - $10,000

1188		Krag Jorgenson Model 1896 Rifle .30-40 62122 (A) Here is a Springfield Armory Krag-Jorgenson Model 1896 US Rifle manufactured in May 1897 and chambered in .30-40 Karg. Used as the standard issued rifle during the Spanish American War era, the Krag saw less than a decade of service before it was replaced by the newer Model 1903. This particular rifle has been sporterized, with its barrel cut down to 22-inches (missing front sight) and its stock replaced. Its markings are clean and crisp and the finish exhibits some of its original bluing, accented with a dark patina. There is visible oxidation on the trigger guard, and the rear site shows pitting. The aftermarket stock is in solid condition and shows minor dings and scratches. Bore is clean and rifling is prominent. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 62122. Classified Antique. Start price: $130 Estimate: $275 - $10,000
1189		Winchester Model 69A .22 S.L.L.R. Rifle (C) This vintage Winchester Model 69A is a classic bolt-action rimfire rifle, a staple of American marksmanship history produced in New Haven, Connecticut. Chambered for .22 Short, Long, or Long Rifle, it features the iconic "WP" (Winchester Proof) markings on both the barrel and receiver. The rifle comes equipped with its original detachable box magazine, clearly stamped with the Winchester trademark. The walnut stock shows a deep, natural patina and the blued steel finish remains largely intact across the barrel and bolt assembly. Objectively, the piece is in good condition; the stock displays typical handling scratches and scuffs consistent with age, but no structural cracks are present. The bore shows clean rifling but would benefit from a routine cleaning. H 5.5", W 42.25", D 1.75"; 22 S.L.L.R; NSN; C&R Eligible. Start price: $150 Estimate: $300 - $10,000
1190		Spanish Mauser Model 1916 Rifle 7x57mm V1731(C) The Model 1916 Spanish Mauser is a bolt-action short rifle based on the 1893 Mauser action. Produced from 1916 to 1951 for the Spanish armed forces and the Guardia Civil, it was widely used during the Spanish Civil War. This particular rifle was manufactured in 1930. It has its original 21.75-inch barrel; however, the stock has been cut down and sporterized. The black metal finish is in average condition, showing scratches and marks, with some per re-arsenal pitting. Butt plate shows oxidation. Wood stock is in typical service condition, with dings and scratches, however is solid with no visible cracks. Bore is in good condition and rifling is prominent, but edges are rounding. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: V1731. C&R Eligible. Start price: $100 Estimate: $200 - $10,000
1191		1965 Belgian Browning Semi-Auto .22 Rifle (C) This 1965 Belgian-manufactured semi-automatic rifle is a prime example of the high-quality sporting arms produced by Fabrique Nationale (FN) for the Browning Arms Company. The serial number 3058 X5 marked under barrel. Suffix "X5" confirms its 1965 production date, placing it firmly in the desirable era of Belgian craftsmanship before production shifted to Japan in the 1970s. This "wheel-sight" era collectible features a rich walnut stock, a unique bottom-ejection port magazine, and the distinctive "St. Louis & Montreal" barrel address. The newly provided imagery clearly displays the authentic Belgian proof marks on the bolt, including the "Lion over PV" (smokeless powder proof) and the "Perron" tower mark, further cementing its heritage. The firearm is in good overall condition; while the bolt shows some oxidation and use, the receiver bluing remains largely intact with typical thinning. The wood stock displays minor field scratches and light compressions consistent with a vintage field rifle of this age. H 4.25", W 39.25", D 2.5". S/N 3058 X5; C&R eligible. Please see photos for condition. Start price: $250 Estimate: $450 - $10,000

1192		Chinese Type 53 Carbine 7.62x54mmR T53021546 (C) The Chinese Type 53 is a 7.62x54mmR bolt-action carbine, manufactured at Factory 296 (Jianshe Arsenal) starting in 1953 and based on the Soviet M44 Mosin-Nagant design. Known for its extensive use in Vietnam, it was a primary infantry weapon for the PLA and Viet Cong. This particular Type 53 was manufactured in February 1955 and has a 20.5-inch barrel, a side-folding bayonet, and a 5-round internal magazine. The bolt displays the Russian Izhevsk Arsenal markings and the receiver markings are clean and crisp. Metal finish is in overall good condition for being 70 years old, showing edge wear and finish lose. Wood stock is in field use condition, with dings and scratches, but is solid with no cracks. The original serial number is stamped on the stock, which matches the receiver. Bore needs a good cleaning and shows some freckling. Rifling is strong but rounding. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: T53021546. C&R Eligible. Start price: $130 Estimate: $250 - $10,000

(C) This impressive piece of Swiss engineering is a Model 1878 Vetterli bolt-action repeating rifle, manufactured at the renowned Waffenfabrik Bern. Based on the serial number 187569, this rifle was produced circa 1880. Representing a pivotal era in late 19th-century firearms development, the M.78 features the distinctive side-loading gate and tubular magazine inspired by American Winchester designs, paired with a sophisticated bolt-action system. The receiver is clearly stamped with the Swiss cross, "WAFFENFABRIK BERN," and serial number 187569, which matches across the barrel, receiver, rear sight, and bolt. The rifle showcases the refined "Quadrant" rear sight and original walnut stock. The bore is clean with strong rifling, and the action remains remarkably smooth. Condition is very good, showing a handsome, honest patina on the steel and expected light handling marks and compression dings on the wood stock, consistent with its age and military service. 1195		Jap T 99 Arisaka Rifle W/AA Sights 7.7mm 37004 (C) This mid-WWII-era Japanese Arisaka Type 99 short rifle, serial number 37004, was manufactured at the Nagoya Arsenal (Series 5) approximately between 1942 and 1943. As a classic Series 5 specimen, it represents a pivotal transition period in Japanese ordnance; it retains the highly desirable early-war features like the anti-aircraft rear sight with fold-out wings, the original sliding metal dust cover, and the wire monopod, yet shows the beginning of production streamlining. The Imperial Chrysanthemum (MUM) has been ground, though it remains partially visible beneath the strike marks. The rifle includes a 22.5" unthreaded rod, a spring-loaded brown plastic muzzle cover, and a supple, non-original leather replacement sling. The bore remains slightly dark but exhibits strong, distinct rifling. While the wooden stock shows its share of nicks, scuffs, and bruising consistent with combat use, it remains solid with no structural issues. Metal surfaces exhibit fading and localized finish loss, particularly at the receiver; a protruding screw is noted at the monopod pivot point, and one of the protective ears on the front sight is missing H 6", W 44.25", D 3.75" Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 37004 C&R Eligible. Start price: $200 Estimate: $400 - $10,000
1196		Winchester Model 41 .410 Shotgun; NSN; (C) This Winchester Model 41 is a classic bolt-action, single-shot .410 gauge shotgun, representing a fine example of early 20th-century American craftsmanship. Manufactured in New Haven, Connecticut, between 1920 and 1934, this model features a 24-inch barrel with a full choke and carries the distinct "W" proof marks on both the barrel and the receiver. The stock is crafted from American walnut and retains its original checkered hard rubber buttplate featuring the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. logo. This piece shows a genuine aged patina on the blued steel and expected field wear on the wood. Condition is noted by a significant crack and chip to the toe of the walnut stock and the corresponding section of the hard rubber buttplate. The bore remains fairly clean, and the action appears functional. L 44.25", W 2", D 5". Please see photos for condition. .410 Gauge; NSN; C&R Eligible. Start price: $130 Estimate: $200 - $10,000
1197		Arg Mauser M1891 Rifle 7.65mm C6726 (C), W/Bayonet Argentine Mauser 1891 Rifle & Bayonet This lot features a distinguished Mauser Modelo Argentino 1891 infantry rifle manufactured by Manufactura Loewe Berlin, complete with a leather sling and period bayonet. Produced between 1891 and 1896, this rifle is a superb example of German contract engineering for the Argentine military. It features matching serial number C6726 on the receiver, bolt, and walnut stock. As is common for these imports, the national crest has been "scrubbed" (professionally ground off) from the receiver ring. The accompanying bayonet is clearly marked "AS.FA" (Astillero Río Santiago) on one side of the pommel and "1732" on the reverse. The leather sling with a brass buckle remains in very good, live condition, adding a refined touch to this historic ensemble. The mechanical action is remarkably smooth, and the bore remains bright with strong, crisp rifling. Overall condition is very good; the rifle maintains a strong blued finish with minor thinning on the bolt handle, while the stock shows honest service wear with scattered shallow compressions. The bayonet blade is well-preserved with a clean edge and typical age patina on the hilt. H 7.5", W 48.5", D 3.5". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N C6726. C&R Eligible. 1198		Rock-Ola M1 Carbine .30 Caliber SN 4603813 (C) This authentic WWII-era M1 Carbine is a highly sought-after piece of Americana, manufactured by the legendary Rock-Ola Manufacturing Corporation—originally famous for their jukeboxes. This specimen features a walnut stock and a "Rock-Ola" marked barrel, showcasing the manufacturer's transition from musical instruments to war production. Based on the serial number 4603813, this rifle was manufactured between November 1943 and March 1944. Notably, it is equipped with a Type 3 barrel band marked "AMCO," a common subcontractor for these components during late-war production and post-war refurbishments. The rifle includes a green nylon sling in a herringbone weave, a durable material often seen in post-WWII or Korean War-era replacements; no magazine is present. The parkerized finish is in very good condition, exhibiting consistent coverage with only minor thinning at the muzzle and along the bolt track. The bore is clean and in good condition with strong rifling. The wood stock is in good condition with minimal mars; however, there are small scratches and two minor linear imperfections—one at the wrist on the upper portion and another on the left side of the receiver—which appear to be superficial scratches rather than structural cracks. H 5.5", W 35.75", D 3" .30 Caliber SN 4603813; C&R eligible. Please see photos for condition. Start price: $800 Estimate: $1,600 - $10,000
1199		Japanese Type 99 Arisaka Rifle 7.7m 60849 (C) This is a Japanese Type 99 Arisaka bolt-action rifle, a primary service arm of the Imperial Japanese Army during WWII, bearing serial number 60849. Based on the Kokura Arsenal mark (four stacked cannonballs) and the serial number, this rifle was produced during the mid-war period, likely between 1941 and 1943. The receiver is marked with the Type 99 (???) kanji, though the Imperial Chrysanthemum (mon) has been ground off. It includes a Type 30 bayonet, serial number 2496871, also featuring the Kokura/Tokyo Arsenal insignia and a hooked crossguard. The rifle features a unique finish history, as it was previously covered in a green paint that has since been largely removed, leaving the original wood and metal surfaces well-preserved. The rifle retains its ladder-style rear sight, though the anti-aircraft "wings" are missing. The original wood stock is in good condition with no cracks or significant damage, and the barrel measures 25.125" in length. This example comes equipped with a non-original nylon webbing sling. The bayonet is notably bright and sharp. Physically, the piece shows light thinning of the bluing and minor handling marks on the wood; the bore remains clean, though the rifling is noted as being weak. H 4.5", W 44.25", D 2.25" Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 60849. C&R Eligible. Start price: $300 Estimate: $600 - $10,000
1200		Zastava M48 Rifle 8mm V55932 (C) This is a rugged Yugoslavian M48 bolt-action rifle, a post-WWII derivative of the venerable German K98k design, manufactured at the Zastava Arms factory (Preduzece 44). This particular example features a rich wood stock with a visible serial number "V55932" stamped into the buttstock, matching the receiver. The barrel bears import marks from "PW ARMS REDMOND WA" and clearly identifies the "YUGO ZASTAVA 8mm" lineage. Notable details include the hooded front sight, adjustable rear tangent sight graduated to 2,000 meters, and various "BK" (Vojna Kontrola) military inspection proofs on the bolt and floorplate. The rifle shows honest military wear with thinning bluing on the high edges, various handling marks, and scratches on the timber. The bore is noted as dark with fair rifling. H 4.75", W 3", D 43". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N V55932. C&R Eligible. Start price: $200 Estimate: $400 - $10,000

This compact pistol was manufactured from 1999 to 2002 and designed as a concealed carry and law enforcement backup. It is known for its reliability and manageable recoil for the caliber. It features a bobbed hammer to prevent catching on clothing, an alloy frame providing a robust platform to help with recoil management, an ambidextrous thumb safety, and a Fixed low-mount 3-dot sight. This particular pistol has one 7-round magazine, a carrying case and beautiful wood grips which are in great condition. The two-tone finish is in excellent condition. Bore and rifling are both good. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: TDS0063 Start price: $250 Estimate: $500 - $10,000

1205		Original Colt Model 1860 Army Revolver 134630 (A) A stunning example of an original Civil War-era, three screw, single action Colt Model 1860 Army, revolver chambered in .44 caliber. It displays matching serial numbers "134630" throughout, including the frame, barrel, brass trigger guard and strap, placing production in 1863. The barrel displays the New York address: "- ADDRESS COL. SAML COLT NEW-YORK U.S. AMERICA -", and a Naval Engagement scene is faintly scene inscribed on the cylinder. Military "D" inspection marks are visible on the barrel and cylinder, and an "H" inspector marked is visible on the trigger guard. The walnut grips are well preserved and have a nice deep color finish. There are some light marks on the grips consistent with service use. The finish exhibits a dark, natural salt-and-pepper patina consistent with age and the brass trigger guard displays a dull golden color. Bore is dark and has oxidation consistent with its age, however, the rifling is still in good condition with some rounding. Mechanically, the action and trigger appear to function properly. This .44 caliber percussion powerhouse comes housed in a period-correct, velvet-lined locking wooden presentation case along with an impressive array of accessories: a brass "Stands of Flags" powder flask, a dual-cavity bullet mold, two cleaning rods, a nipple wrench/screwdriver tool, a James Dixon & Son powder measurer, a brass - leather wrapped telescope (spy glass), an original box of American Powder Company cartridges, an original Eley Bros. percussion cap tin, a reproduction cap tin and 6 -cartridges in a wood holder. The set is further accented by an ornate U.S. Cavalry insignia and a bullion patch. Overall, this is an amazing piece of American firearm history that is accented by an impressive case/display. Please see photos for overall condition. Key is included with case. S/N: 134630 (Antique) Case: H 3", W 17.25", D 10". Start price: $600 Estimate: $1,200 - $10,000

1206		Civil War Era S&W Model 2 Army Revolver 31411 (A) Here is an American Civil War era Smith & Wesson Model No. 2 Army tip-up revolver, chambered in .32 rimfire. This iconic six-shot, single action, secondary military sidearm features the characteristic 6" octagonal barrel and was a favorite private-purchase weapon for officers during the 1860s. Though never adopted by the U.S. Army, approximately 35,731 revolvers were produced before May 1, 1865, and are considered likely to have seen Civil War service. This particular revolver bears serial number 31411 on the butt, placing its production in early 1865. The top of the barrel is clearly marked "SMITH & WESSON SPRINGFIELD, MASS" and the cylinder displays patient dates of April 3, 1855, July 5, 1859, and December 12, 1860. Revolver retains its original rosewood grips that show typical handling wear and minor thinning of the varnish but remain free of cracks. The metals classic blued finish has transitioned into a smooth, honest brown patina. The metal shows some light surface oxidation consistent with age, but the markings remain legible. Bore is dark and has oxidation consistent with age, however, the rifling is still in good condition with some rounding. Mechanically, the action and trigger are smooth and appear to function properly. Don't miss out on an opportunity to own a piece of firearm history. Notable figures such "Wild Bill" Hickok, George Armstrong Custer, and President Rutherford B. Hayes also owned and carried a Smith &Wesson Model 2. Please see photos for overall condition. 1248		CJ Hamilton No 27 Rifle .22 Cal NSN (C) Hamilton No. 27 .22 Caliber Rifle A quintessential piece of American turn-of-the-century engineering, this Hamilton No. 27 "boys' rifle" was manufactured by C.J. Hamilton & Son in Plymouth, Michigan. These rifles are historically significant for their unique construction, utilizing a brass-lined, rolled-steel barrel rather than a solid bored tube, which kept them affordable for young marksmen. Based on the patent markings and production records, this Model 27 likely dates to the primary manufacturing window of 1907 to 1930. This example features the classic tip-up breech-loading design and still retains its original wooden furniture and metal buttplate. The exterior metal surfaces display a heavy, dark patina with widespread surface oxidation and pitting. The bore is noted to be very dark and heavily pitted, suggesting significant use and aged fouling, while the walnut stock shows a notable scuff or finish wear on the left side of the wrist. H 5", W 30.25", D 1". Start price: $60 Estimate: $120 - $1,000
1249		Jap Arisaka Type 99 Short Rifle 7.7x58 SN57335 (C) This bolt-action rifle is a Japanese Arisaka Type 99 Short Rifle, a primary infantry weapon of the Imperial Japanese Army during WWII. Chambered in 7.7x58mm Arisaka, this specimen is a late-war "Last Ditch" variation, indicated by its simplified features and the "Series 24" marking alongside the Kokura Arsenal symbol on the receiver, bearing serial number 57335. The "stacked cannonballs" mark is the definitive logo for the Kokura Arsenal. Based on the serial block, this rifle was manufactured circa 1944–1945. The Imperial Chrysanthemum has been heavily struck or ground, and the receiver shows significant pitting. While the barrel retains its rifling, the bore is dark and dirty. Expert observation suggests the wooden buttplate is a modern replacement, as evidenced by contemporary nails and the lack of aged patina compared to the primary stock. The rifle is missing its bolt assembly, and metal surfaces show heavy oxidation and surface pitting throughout. H 6", W 44", D 2". ". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 57335 C&R Eligible. Start price: $50 Estimate: $100 - $1,000
1250		J. Stevens Maynard Jr. Rifle .22 Short NSN (C) This is a classic J. Stevens Maynard Jr. (Model 15) single-shot rifle, manufactured by J. Stevens Arms & Tool Co. in Chicopee Falls, Massachusetts, likely between 1902 and 1915. A quintessential American "boys' rifle," it features the iconic tip-up action operated by the under-lever. The octagonal-to-round barrel is clearly stamped with the manufacturer's mark and the "22-SHORT" caliber designation. The rifle is constructed with a walnut stock and a slender 18-inch barrel, representing a significant era in early 20th-century marksmanship history. The metal surfaces exhibit a heavy, dark patina with visible pitting and oxidation consistent with its age. The walnut stock shows various nicks and scratches, though it retains a smooth, aged finish. The bore is dark with no rifling visible. H 5", W 32.75", D 1.5". Please see photos for overall condition. NSN, C&R Eligible. Start price: $80 Estimate: $150 - $1,000

1251		Japanese Type 38 Arisaka Trainer Rifle 6.5m 27 (C) This Japanese Type 38 Arisaka training rifle, likely dating from the mid-20th century, features the characteristic long-form stock and bolt-action design utilized for military drill and instruction. The stock displays a prominent rectangular "Kosei" (??) cartouche, indicating its association with a specific youth or training organization, and is further marked with a stamped "8" on the opposing side of the buttstock. Constructed with a wooden stock and steel barrel, this specimen features a smoothbore barrel and was chambered for 6.5mm blank cartridges only. The bolt features a distinctive knurled safety knob and is marked with the number "27," while the rear ladder sight remains intact. The piece is in good vintage condition, showing expected handling wear, surface oxidation on the metal components, and various scuffs or indentations on the wood consistent with age and drill use; notably, the receiver is without a dust cover. H 4.25", W 50", D 3.5". Please see photos for overall condition. NSN. C&R Eligible. Start price: $80 Estimate: $160 - $10,000
1252		Winchester Model 94 Rifle .30-30W S/N 4591103 This classic Winchester Model 94 lever-action carbine is a quintessential piece of American firearms history, chambered in the venerable .30-30 Winchester caliber. Manufactured by Winchester Repeating Arms in New Haven, Connecticut, this carbine features a 19" barrel, walnut stock and forend, and a blued steel finish with the signature "WP" proof marks. The checkered polymer buttplate displays the traditional company logo, and the serial number 4591103 dates this piece to approximately 1978. This specimen presents in very good overall condition; the bore and rifling are excellent, the action cycles smoothly, and both the receiver and barrel show only minimal surface blemishes and light handling wear consistent with careful use. L 38", W 1.5", D 7". S/N 4591103. Please see photos for condition. Start price: $300 Estimate: $600 - $10,000
1253		Mauser K98 Rifle 8mm J4773 (C) Russian Capture This Mauser K98k bolt-action rifle features a wood stock and a black finish on the metal components, characteristic of a Russian Capture (RC) arsenal rework. It displays mismatched and forced-match serial numbers, specifically "J 4773" on the receiver, "5713" on the bolt handle, and "1155" on the trigger plate and floorplate. The barrel contains visible rifling and requires cleaning. Notable physical attributes include a gap between the buttplate and the stock, and a missing upper retaining band on the handguard. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and function as intended. The black finish shows areas of wear and thinning, and the stock exhibits dings, scratches, and finish loss. Condition is fair to good/surplus, with visible field wear, missing hardware, and mismatched components. H 6", W 41.25", D 2 "Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: J 4773. C&R Eligible. Start price: $400 Estimate: $800 - $10,000
1254		Stevens Arms "Crack-Shot" Rifle .22cal NSN (C) This Stevens Crack-Shot No. 26 is a quintessential "boy's rifle" manufactured by the J. Stevens Arms & Tool Co. (1913–1920). A single-shot rimfire featuring a lever-actuated rolling block, it remains a staple of early 20th-century firearms history. This specimen features a 18.75" barrel and original walnut furniture. While the primary components are present, it is missing the breech block crosspin that connects the block to the lever assembly, requiring repair for mechanical timing. The wood shows honest wear with scattered compressions, and the metal has transitioned to a natural plum patina with light surface oxidation. The bore is dark but retains strong rifling. L 32.5", H 4.5", W 1". Please see photos for overall condition. NSN, C&R Eligible. Start price: $60 Estimate: $120 - $1,000

1255		Schmidt Rubin Model 1911 7.5mm 470989 (C) This is a classic Swiss Model 1911 (G11) straight-pull bolt-action rifle, a masterpiece of Alpine precision engineering. Chambered in the powerful 7.5x55mm Swiss (GP11) caliber, as evidenced by the "7.5" and "P" (privatized/released from service) markings, this specimen carries serial number 470989, which dates its manufacture to approximately 1918 by Waffenfabrik Bern. The rifle features the distinctive "beer barrel" charging handles and original Swiss cross proof marks on the receiver, barrel, and walnut stock. It remains in a very honest, service-worn condition; the wood shows numerous character marks, small dings, and surface abrasions consistent with military use, while the blued finish exhibits thinning and high-edge wear. The bolt, receiver, and magazine numbers appear matching. The bore shows visible rifling but requires a thorough cleaning to remove accumulated debris. H 5.5", W 3", D 52". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 470989. C&R Eligible. Start price: $250 Estimate: $500 - $10,000
1256		*Sig Sauer Model 516 Rifle, 5.56 NATO 53E009207 CANNOT SELL TO ILLINOIS RESIDENTS This is a professional-grade Sig Sauer 516 Patrol semi-automatic rifle chambered in 5.56 NATO, featuring a Flat Dark Earth (FDE) finish and a short-stroke gas piston system. The rifle is equipped with a 16-inch barrel featuring a 1/7 twist rate, a Magpul Industries adjustable buttstock, and a quad-rail handguard for accessory mounting. Discernible markings include the Sig Sauer logo, "SIG 516 5.56 NATO" on the lower receiver, and "Exeter, NH USA" as the city of origin. Included with the rifle are a black tactical sling, five magazines, and the original factory box with foam inserts. The firearm is in excellent, lightly used condition with minimal signs of wear or handling marks on the FDE coating. The bore and rifling are in great condition. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 53E009207. Firearm In Box: L 47", W 11.5", H 4.5" Start price: $700 Estimate: $1,100 - $10,000
1257		Marlin No 27 Rifle .25-20 (C) NSN This vintage Marlin Model No. 27 is a classic example of early 20th-century American craftsmanship, manufactured by the Marlin Firearms Co. in New Haven, CT, between 1909 and 1912. As a precursor to the 27S (introduced in 1913), this original No. 27 features the distinct octagonal barrel and slide-action design favored for its reliability. The barrel is roll-stamped with patent dates through November 29, 1904, and is chambered in the historically popular .25-20 Marlin caliber. The rifle showcases a walnut stock with a crescent buttplate and a ribbed "Tootsie Roll" style forend. The metal surfaces show a natural aged patina with surface oxidation consistent with its age. The wood stock appears to have been refinished with a high-gloss coat; there is a noticeable scratch on the left side of the buttstock, though it is free of cracks. While the bore is uncleaned, the rifling remains visible. H 5.5", W 1.5", D 42.25" Please see photos for overall condition. NSN. C&R Eligible. Start price: $220 Estimate: $450 - $10,000

1258		Jap Arisaka Type 99 Training Rifle 6.5mm 42167 (C) This is a Japanese Arisaka Type 99 training rifle, a compelling piece of WWII-era instructional militaria designed for drill and gallery practice, likely manufactured between 1939 and 1945. Constructed with a smoothbore barrel and simplified hardware, this piece features a light-toned wood stock and a bolt-action assembly. Notable markings include the serial "42167" on the receiver, "87" on the bolt handle, and "15" on the floor plate; as is common with trainers, the imperial chrysanthemum is absent. The buttstock features a handwritten notation in ink or marker reading "CAL," likely a later addition for identification. The piece shows expected field wear, including compression marks and scratches on the wood and light surface oxidation on the metal. It is missing the front stock endcap and the buttplate, and the trigger does not trip the action when the bolt is cycled, requiring mechanical attention. H 5.5", L 44.25", D 2.5". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 42167 C&R Eligible. Start price: $40 Estimate: $80 - $1,000
1259		Italian M91/38 Carcano Rifle 7.35m G1571 (C) A rugged specimen of Italian craftsmanship, this Model 91/24 Carbine represents a fascinating era of military history. This purpose-built carbine was manufactured at the Brescia arsenal, as clearly indicated by the "BRESCIA" stamp on the barrel facet. The receiver bears a crisp 1917 date and the specific serial number AM 8142. Fashioned from a solid wood stock and blued steel, it features the iconic en-bloc clip-fed magazine and a rear sight graduated from 6 to 15. Notable markings include the "BL" and "FP" inspection stamps on the bolt and a faint "DP" cartouche on the buttstock. The rifle is in fair to good service-used condition; the wood shows evidence of old depressions being filled in, and the sling hardware has been removed. The bayonet lug remains present but has been ground down, and the metal components exhibit thinning bluing with patches of oxidation. The 17" barrel features a bore that is dark but retains strong rifling. H 5.5", L 36.5", D 3" Please see photos for overall condition. S/N AM8142 C&R Eligible. Start price: $60 Estimate: $120 - $1,000
1260		Japanese Tanegashima Matchlock Musket (C) Antique Japanese Matchlock musket known as a Tanegashima. 37" barrel with ornate tulip muzzle. Rifle is in very good condition for age with finish wear and nicks and dings. Matchlock action is missing pieces and non functional. Extremely interesting weapon from the last era of the Samurai. See photos. Start price: $300 Estimate: $600 - $10,000
1261		Chinese Type 24 Mauser Rifle 8mm 0686 (C) Produced between 1935 and 1950, the Chinese Type 24—or "Chiang Kai-shek" rifle—was the first standardized domestic copy of the German Mauser Standardmodell to be mass-produced in Chinese arsenals. This seasoned 8mm Mauser veteran features a hardwood stock with distinctive boxed Chinese character cartouches branded into the buttstock, indicating official militia or arsenal issue. The receiver and bolt root are stamped with serial 0686, accompanied by a clear Chinese "plum blossom" proof mark on the bolt handle. The rifle exhibits heavy historical wear, including a dark patina on the metal, significant wood bruising, and a missing magazine floor plate. Mechanically, the action cocks and the bolt locks, but the trigger fails to release the firing pin and the bolt does not cycle fully to feed ammunition. H 5.5", W 46.5", D 2" SN 0686. C&R Eligible. Start price: $80 Estimate: $150 - $1,000

1262		Japanese Arisaka Type 99 Rifle 7mm 7445 (C) Sporterized Japanese Arisaka Type 99 S/N 7445 (C) This Nagoya Arsenal Type 99 was originally produced during Series 5, which dates its manufacture to approximately late 1943 to early 1944, S/N 7445. As a mid-war specimen, it showcases the transition toward "Last Ditch" features while still maintaining several early-quality machining characteristics. This rifle has been expertly sporterized for the modern sportsman, featuring a custom Monte Carlo-style walnut stock with a distinctive diamond inlay and a "Fajen" buttplate. The receiver retains its clear "Type 99" (???) characters and a partially struck Imperial Chrysanthemum (Mum), highlighting its storied military past. It is equipped with a sophisticated after-market aperture receiver sight and a curved bolt handle for improved ergonomics. The metalwork shows a consistent aged patina with surface oxidation on the receiver and barrel, while the custom wood stock displays light handling marks and minor scratches consistent with field use; the rifling remains strong, though the bore would benefit from a thorough cleaning. The bolt is non-matching to the receiver (numbered 575). H 5.25", W 2.25", D 43.75". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 7445. C&R Eligible. Start price: $180 Estimate: $300 - $10,000
1263		J. Stevens SXS Shotgun 12GA NSN (C) This is a classic American-made J. Stevens Arms Company Model 5100 double-barrel side-by-side shotgun from Chicopee Falls, Mass., notably featuring "Tenite" synthetic stocks. Introduced in the late 1930s and used through the 1940s, Tenite was a pioneering wood-grained thermoplastic used by Stevens to provide a durable, weather-resistant alternative to walnut during the war era. This 12-gauge "Selected Forged Steel" boxlock features 2 3/4" chambers, double triggers, and a receiver marked with a pointer dog engraving and a heart-shaped proof. The piece is in fair-to-poor condition, as the Tenite material has suffered from the common "shrinkage" and brittleness issues associated with early plastics, resulting in a significant separation and crack where the stock meets the receiver at the wrist. The metal shows a mix of original case coloring, thinning bluing, and surface oxidation. H 5.25", W 2.25", D 46.25". Start price: $50 Estimate: $100 - $1,000
1264		Springfield M1898 Krag Rifle .35Krag 79594 (C) This handsome sporterized rifle is built on a classic U.S. Springfield Armory Model 1898 Krag-Jørgensen action. While the Model 1896 and 1898 look similar, the Model 1898 marking visible on the receiver and the serial number 73594 (produced in 1898) confirm its identity; the 1898 model notably removed the bolt-handle locking recess found on the 1896, making for an even smoother throw. It has been custom-fit with an MG Bowen barrel and chambered for the formidable .35 Krag Improved wildcat cartridge. The rifle features a custom walnut sporter stock with a cheekpiece, white spacers, and a rubber recoil pad, transitioning it from its military origins into a specialized hunting configuration. The receiver retains the iconic right-side loading gate. The metal displays a deep blued finish with some thinning and minor handling marks, while the stock shows light scratches and typical wear. Per the user's notes, the trigger and action mechanism require professional servicing, and the front sight pin is currently protruding and needs attention. Overall length is 44.5", with a 23-3/8" barrel. H 7", W 44.5", D 3". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 73594 C&R Eligible. Start price: $200 Estimate: $400 - $10,000

1265		Deactivated Italian Vetterli M1870/87 NP1672 (C) This Italian Vetterli-Vitali Model 1870/87, manufactured at the Brescia arsenal in 1883, serves as a significant historical display piece illustrating the transition to magazine-fed rifles. Featuring the Vitali box magazine and a walnut stock with a distinct tiger-stripe grain, the rifle is marked with serial number "NP 1672" and a "2522" stock cartouche. The rifle retains its original long-range flip-up sights and barrel bands. Condition is poor for functional use but fair for a relic; the stock has heavy cracking on both sides of the receiver, and the breech has been welded shut, rendering it strictly non-operational and unsafe to fire. While the action is deactivated, the bore interestingly maintains strong rifling. The metal shows heavy patina, oxidation, and significant wear from its historical service and subsequent deactivation. H 5", W 53", D 2". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N NP1672, C&R Eligible. Start price: $150 Estimate: $300 - $10,000
1266		Austrian Steyr M95 Rifle 8x56R 2607S (C) Steyr Mannlicher M95/34 Carbine 8x56mmR This is a classic Austrian Steyr Mannlicher M95/34 straight-pull carbine, a robust relic of the interwar period and WWII. Originally manufactured as a long rifle by Steyr, the barrel shank is dated "Wn-17," indicating it was first accepted into Austrian military service in 1917 during the height of WWI. It was later modernized to the carbine configuration and rechambered for the 8x56mmR cartridge, as shown by the prominent "S" stamp. The receiver is marked "STEYR M.95," and the serial number "2607 S" matches on the receiver, barrel, and bolt. The underside of the barrel near the muzzle bears a TGI KNOX TN import mark. This example features a rich wood stock and deep bluing. The condition is very good for its age; the stock has no structural cracks, the straight-pull action operates as it should but may require light oiling, and while the bore is dark, it retains strong rifling. H 4", W 39.75", D 3.5".Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 2607S C&R Eligible. Start price: $220 Estimate: $450 - $10,000
1267		*Colt M4 Carbine w/Scope 5.56mm LE410251 CANNOT SELL TO ILLINOIS RESIDENTS Premier example of a modern Colt M4 Carbine, manufactured by Colt Defense in Hartford, Connecticut. This semi-automatic rifle, chambered in 5.56 NATO features a 16" barrel with a 1:7 twist rate, a Picatinny top rail, a 4-position collapsible stock, and a Nikon P-223 1.5-4.5x20 scope. The firearm is in excellent, lightly used condition with minimal signs of wear or handling marks on the finish. The bore and rifling are in great condition. Optics are clear and clean. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Included with the rifle are five 30-round magazines, bipod, a soft padded case and a new Magpul MOE SL Carbine stock and grip. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: LE410251. Start price: $600 Estimate: $1,000 - $10,000

1268		Italian Carcano Rifle 6.5mm BB5871 (C) This is a fine example of a late-model Italian Carcano M91/41 infantry rifle, manufactured in 1942 at the Terni arsenal. Produced during the height of WWII—indicated by the crown and "FAT" (Fabbrica d'Armi Terni) markings on the barrel shank—this bolt-action rifle features the distinctive fixed box magazine designed for the 6.5×52mm Mannlicher-Carcano en-bloc clip. The presence of the "ROCCA" marking on the cocking piece and the serial number "BB 5871" matched on both the barrel and the buttstock speaks to the rifle's preserved military history. Interestingly, the "MADE IN ITALY" stamp on the stock suggests this was part of the post-war surplus exported to the civilian market. This example is notably complete with its original full-length cleaning rod, though the en-bloc clip is not present. The bore is clean with strong rifling, and the hardware remains functionally sound with a smooth bolt action. The stock is in near-pristine condition with minimal handling marks or compression dents, and the blued finish shows only light, honest wear consistent with careful storage. H 4.25", W 46", D 3.25" Please see photos for overall condition. S/N BB 5871 C&R Eligible. Start price: $220 Estimate: $450 - $10,000
1269		Factory 26 Type 56 SKS 7.62mm 2422230 A classic example of the Chinese Type 56 SKS semi-automatic rifle, this piece features the distinctive "Factory 26" (Jianshe Arsenal) triangle stamp alongside "Type 56" in Chinese characters. Based on the serial number prefix 24, this rifle is estimated to have been manufactured in 1979-1980, following the widely accepted "millions digit" dating method for Jianshe Arsenal production (1956 + 24). Imported by Norinco/KSI out of Pomona, CA, this 7.62x39mm caliber rifle showcases a rich, reddish-finished wood stock and matching serial numbers (22230) on the bolt carrier, receiver, sight ladder, and stock. The flip-up rear sight is graduated to 1000 meters, and it includes the original canvas sling. The metalwork retains a strong blued finish with minor handling marks, and the bore is noted as crisp and bright with sharp rifling. The stock shows typical light indentations and surface wear consistent with age and storage, though it remains structurally sound and visually striking. H 6", W 36", D 2.75". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 22230 C&R Eligible. Start price: $300 Estimate: $600 - $10,000

1274		WWII German Marked Browning Hi-Power 9mm 193116 (C) This Belgian-made Fabrique Nationale (FN) Browning Hi-Power was produced during the German occupation of World War II, as evidenced by the faint "Waffenamt" inspection stamps found on the barrel and frame. While the pistol features its original checkered wood grips, it has been treated to a post war high-polish chrome plating, a common practice for "veteran bring-backs," which has covered a lot of the markings. The firearm displays serial numbers 193116 on the barrel and partial number "19" on the frame. The plating is in overall good condition, showing scattered surface scratches and minor scuffing. The wooden grips remain in good condition with minor handling wear to the finish. Bore is clean and rifling is strong. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Included with the firearm are two, post war magazines. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N:193116 C&R Eligible. Start price: $400 Estimate: $750 - $10,000

1292		Haerens Tojhus Model 1889 Rifle 8x59R 97203 (C) 2009246 C2057 400/800/10000 Danish Krag-Jørgensen M1889 Rifle This is a fine example of a Danish Krag-Jørgensen Model 1889 bolt-action rifle, manufactured at the Royal Danish Arsenal. The receiver is clearly marked "HÆRENS TØJHUS. 1915. M. 89.", identifying it as a 1915 production for the Danish Army. It features the distinctive Krag side-loading magazine and characteristic barrel shroud. The rifle displays several proof marks, including the crowned "16" and "B" marks on the barrel and receiver. The serial number 97203 is visible on the receiver and barrel, though the bolt (numbered 258) and other components appear non-matching, which is common for service rifles of this era. The walnut stock shows a deep, natural patina with various handling marks and indentations consistent with military use. The metal surfaces exhibit a mix of original bluing and thinning to a grey-brown patina, with light surface oxidation on the magazine door. The action is functional, the rifling remains strong, and the bore is in fair condition. H 6", W 53", D 2.75" Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 97203 C&R Eligible. Caliber: 8mm Mauser (8 x 57mm) Serial Number: 1F7524 (Receiver). An interesting example of a post-WWII Turkish military contract, this long-pattern Mauser was produced/overhauled at the Ankara Military Factory in 1954. Built on the rugged and reliable German Gewehr 98 pattern action, these rifles served as the backbone of the Turkish land forces during the early Cold War era. The receiver features a crisp "ATF" crest (stylized Ankara Military Factory) over the 1954 production date. The side rail is clearly stamped "98. Th." (representing Tüfek, the Turkish word for rifle). The rifle maintains its full military configuration with a 48.75-inch overall length, featuring the standard Turkish tangent rear sight graduated to 2,000 meters. The hardwood stock shows honest service wear. Import markings from C.A.I. Georgia, VT are present on the underside of the muzzle. Bore is dark, but rifling strong. L 49", Barrel approx. 29". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N 1F 7524 C&R Eligible. Start price: $200 Estimate: $350 - $10,000

1296		Like New Mossberg 590 Pump Shotgun 12g V1305729 Here is a beautiful Mossberg 590, pump-action shotgun chambered in 12 gauge. A highly versatile shotgun, its modular design allows users to quickly swap barrels and furniture for different applications like hunting, home defense, or tactical use. This particular shotgun features an 18.5-inch barrel that chambers 2¾ and 3 -inch shells, a 5 round magazine tube, and a barrel heat shield, when combined with the wood stock, gives it that military "Trench Shotgun" look. Finish is 98%, with only a little fading near on the magazine tube near the action. The wood furniture is in excellent condition, showing no wear or marks. Bore is shiny. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: V1305729 Start price: $225 Estimate: $450 - $10,000
1297		*CLEAN Russian SKS 7.62 Rifle w/Scope CCCP28911(C) MAGAINZES NOT LEGAL IN ILLINOIS A classic Russian SKS semi-automatic rifle chambered in 7.62x39mm, a staple of Cold War-era engineering. Manufactured in the 1950s by Tula Arsenal, the receiver, bolt, magazine cover, and trigger guard are clearly marked with the original matching serial number C03198. Currently, the rifle is housed in a modern black synthetic sporter stock and is topped with a Leapers 4x25 fixed-power scope on a receiver cover mount. This lot is particularly desirable for the purist as it includes the original laminate wood stock (matching serial number C0 3198 visible), a canvas sling, a spike bayonet, and two high-capacity "duckbill" style magazine. The dark black, Russian finish shows minor thinning on the sharp edges and standard operational wear on the bolt carrier and magazine well. The synthetic stock remains in excellent, scuff-free condition; the included original wood stock shows typical light handling marks and storage wear but retains a strong finish. The bore is clean and rifling is strong. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N:CCCP28911. C&R Eligible. Start price: $400 Estimate: $750 - $10,000

It comes equipped with a Simmons 3-9x32mm variable power scope mounted on the receiver and two slings (leather and nylon). The rifle is in excellent condition, with a 99% finish and a clean stock with light surface marks for careful use. Bore is clean and rifling is strong. The scope optics are clean and clear. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: G2006929 Start price: $400 Estimate: $800 - $10,000

1298a		Ruger M77 Mark II Rifle w/Scope .223 787-39160 This is a high-performance Ruger M77 Mark II bolt-action target rifle, chambered in .223 Remington. A true staple for precision shooters, this "Target" model features a heavy, matte-finished stainless steel bull barrel, beautifully paired with a distinctive brown laminate wood stock. The rifle is equipped with a high-magnification Sightron S-TAC 4-20x50 scope, mounted securely with Ruger's proprietary integral rings. The rifle is in excellent, well-maintained condition; the stainless finish is clean with minimal signs of handling, the laminate stock retains a high-gloss luster with no significant dings or scratches. Both the bore and rifling are in good condition. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. The optics are clean and clear. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 787-39160 Start price: $600 Estimate: $1,000 - $10,000
1299		Cold War Era Spanish FR8 Rifle 7.62x51 13799 (C) This Spanish FR8 "Special Purpose Rifle," manufactured in 1956, is a fascinating Cold War era conversion of the Mauser Model 1943 short rifle. Produced at the Fabrica de Armas in La Coruna, these bolt-action carbines were developed as a stopgap measure during the transition to the CETME automatic rifle. These rifles were modified to mimic the sight picture and feel of the CETME automatic rifle for training and civil guard use. It features the distinctive underslung tube (resembling a gas tube), a flash hider, and a rotating aperture rear sight. The receiver is marked "FR8-13799," which matches the bolt handle. The metal displays a parkerized-style finish, and the wood stock retains a deep finish. The firearm shows moderate wear consistent with military use, including scattered scuffs and compressions on the wood and some thinning of the finish on the high edges of the receiver and barrel assembly. The bore is clean and rifling is strong. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N:13799. C&R Eligible. Start price: $400 Estimate: $750 - $10,000
1300		MINT Remington 870 Express Magnum 12g C079179A The Remington Model 870 Express Super Magnum is a versatile 12-gauge pump-action shotgun designed for everything from upland birds to heavy-hitting waterfowl. Built with a durable synthetic stock and a matte black non-reflective finish, this "Super Mag" variant is distinguished by its ability to chamber 2 3/4", 3", and 3 1/2" shells, offering the shooter maximum flexibility in the field. The 25.5-inch barrel features a vented rib and comes with two interchangeable choke tubes: one Remington Turkey XFull (Lead Shot Only) and one Remington Modified choke. This firearm is in excellent condition, with a 99% finish, super clean furniture and a shiny bore. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. 1301d		Winchester M59 Shotgun 12g 33532 Winchester model 59 Semi-automatic shotgun. Caliber 12 gauge. Nice older USA made shotgun features innovative and interesting fiberglass wound steel barrel and aluminum receiver which gave it extremely light weight for the era. This shotgun was only made from 1959-1965 and is in good used condition with some finish wear on metal and wood as well as surface rust on internals from poor storage. This shotgun has been modified by having an after market vent rib cut down and epoxied to the 26" barrel. Nice collector piece that is seldom seen. See photos. Start price: $150 Estimate: $300 - $1,000
1302		Arisaka Type 38 Trainer Rifle 6.5mm NSN (C) WWII Japanese Training version of Type 38 Arisaka rifle. Smooth bore wooden blank firing version used to train cadets and civilians in use of rifle. Very rough construction rifle has very interesting but well worn school markings on stock as well as heavily worn anchor insignia on receiver. Rifle is fairly complete with full wood stock and metal, but is missing bolt latch mechanism. Wood stock is complete with no polish or coating as from factory, but has one small crack in wrist. Great WWII collector item. DO NOT SHOOT WITH LIVE AMMUNITION. See photos. Start price: $100 Estimate: $200 - $1,000
1302a		Italian Carcano Rifle 6.5mm T5662 (C) Italian Carcano Model 91/38 Moschetto, manufactured at the R.E. Terni arsenal in 1940 Chambered in the standard 6.5x52mm Carcano as denoted by the "CAL 6.5" stamp, this carbine features a matching serial number T 5662 across the barrel and stock. The walnut stock bears a visible Terni cartouche and includes the original steel buttplate, though the internal cleaning kit trapdoor is currently missing from the assembly. While the folding bayonet is no longer present on this specimen, the mounting lug remains intact. The metalwork retains a deep, dark blued finish, and the wood shows characteristic field wear including small dings, surface compressions, and service-related abrasions. The seller reports the bore is in excellent condition with strong, clean rifling. H 5", W 1.75", D 40.25". Please see photos for overall condition. S/N T5662. C&R Eligible. Chambered in .22-caliber long rifle, this semi-automatic pistol features a 6-inch barrel, adjustable rear sights, bottom magazine release, and fitted with original checkered walnut grips featuring a thumb rest for right-handed shooters. This pistol shows a blued finish that remains deep in most areas, though it displays visible patches of surface oxidation and finish loss. The wooden grips retain a high-gloss finish with only minor handling marks and no visible cracks. Bore is clean and the rifling is strong. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 047973-S C&R Eligible Start price: $225 Estimate: $450 - $10,000
1305		S&W Model 617-6 Revolver .22lr CTA8838 The Smith & Wesson Model 617-6 revolver is a premium, stainless-steel K-frame revolver chambered in .22lr. Known for its substantial full-size feel, it is often used as a training understudy for larger revolvers like the S&W 686. Much like its bigger brother, it features a 6-inch barrel, a double/single-action trigger, adjustable rear sight, solid rubber grips with figure grooves, but has a 10-shot cylinder. The finish is in good condition, showing light surface marks. Revolver comes with factory rubber grips which show light wear. Bore is clean and rifling is strong. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: CTZ2795 Start price: $400 Estimate: $600 - $10,000
1305a		Iver Johnson Top-Break Revolver .38cal 219 (C) This vintage top-break, .38 caliber revolver was manufactured by Iver Johnson's Arms & Cycle Works in Fitchburg, Massachusetts, a name synonymous with late 19th and early 20th-century American firearms innovation. Featuring a 5-inch barrel, a 5-shot cylinder, and the iconic top-break action for easy extraction, this piece displays multiple patent dates on the butt of the grip from 1886 to 1896. The frame and barrel are both marked with the serial number "219". The finish shows a significant patina consistent with its age, with some pitting visible on the cylinder and barrel. The wooden grips appear to be later replacements and show handling wear. Mechanically, the action and trigger function, however, additional adjustments/repairs are needed to pawl. Bore displays some freckling and the rifling is rounded, but still prominent. Also included is a period correct brown leather holster that is supple, but exhibits scuffing and wear to the finish. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: 219 C&R Eligible Start price: $150 Estimate: $300 - $10,000

1305b		Sweetheart WWII Polish Radom 35 Pistol P1765 (C) A classic example of a bring-back World War II Polish Vis 35 pistol, manufactured under German occupation at the F.B. Radom factory. Chambered in 9mm, this "Grade II" three-lever variation features the characteristic "Waffenamt" eagle over 77 and eagle over 623 inspection marks, indicating production during the Nazi oversight of the facility. A truly unique bring-back feature is the pair of period-correct "sweetheart grips," crafted from clear plexiglass with black-and-white photographs of women tucked underneath—a common practice for soldiers far from home. On the reverse side of each picture are the women's names (please see photos). The pistol exhibits remnants of its original blued finish with some thinning and honest holster wear on the high edges. The plexiglass grips are in solid condition and show minor wear. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. Bore and rifling are in good condition. The pistol is accompanied by an original dark brown leather flap holster with a spare magazine pouch and distinctive "AT" markings on the reverse. A faint stamping is visible on the inside of the leather flap. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: P1765. C&R Eligible. Start price: $500 Estimate: $1,000 - $10,000
1305c		Beautiful S&W Model 29-2 Revolver .44 MAG N723769 Here is a classic "Dirty Harry" era Smith & Wesson Model 29-2 Double Action Revolver, chambered in the formidable .44 Magnum. Manufactured between 1974/1975, it features a 6-inch barrel with a pinned barrel and recessed cylinder. The firearm displays a deep, factory high-polish blued finish, color case-hardened trigger and hammer, and is fitted with checkered walnut grips bearing the S&W medallions. This lot is remarkably complete, including the original wooden presentation case with foam insert, the blue factory "Double Action Revolver" cardboard box, a leather holster, and the original owner's manual. The revolver is in excellent, high-grade condition with a very faint cylinder turn line and minimal wear to the bluing or wood grips. The bore and rifling are mint. Mechanically, the action and trigger are tight and appear to function properly. The presentation case is just as nice of condition and is structurally sound. The leather holster is supple and very clean. Please see photos for overall condition. S/N: N723769. C&R Eligible. Start price: $800 Estimate: $1,400 - $10,000

1405		Colt Pocket Positive Revolver Grips Pair These are an excellent pair of authentic Colt "Pocket Positive" or Small Frame DA revolver grips, likely dating from the early 20th century. Crafted from hard black checkered rubber (gutta-percha), they feature the iconic "Rampant Colt" logo within an oval medallion and a classic fleur-de-lis style border at the base. The checkering remains sharp, providing the tactile feedback these vintage sidearms were known for. These grips are in remarkable condition, showing no chips, cracks, or significant blemishes, with only very light handling wear consistent with age. Each grip measures approximately H 3.25", W 1.5", D 0.25". Please see photos for condition. Start price: $60 Estimate: $120 - $1,000
1406		Colt SAA Hard Rubber & Wood Grip Sets This lot features two distinct sets of grips suitable for a Colt Single Action Army or similar frame. The first set is the classic black "Eagle" style hard rubber, characterized by the iconic "Rampant Colt" motif in an oval, typical of late 19th and early 20th-century production. The second set is a pair of checkered walnut grips, showing a rich, dark patina consistent with age and use. Both sets exhibit honest wear; the hard rubber grips show some fading to a brownish-black hue and minor smoothing of the checkering, while the wooden grips have softened edges and small indentations but no major cracks. One grip screw is included. Measurements for each set are approximately H 3", W 3", D 0.5". Start price: $80 Estimate: $150 - $1,000
1407		Vintage Single-Piece Wood Revolver Grip This unique find is a custom-carved, single-piece revolver grip, likely crafted from a dense walnut or similar hardwood. Stylistically, it mimics the "plow handle" profile common to single-action revolvers of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, though the one-piece construction suggests a higher level of craftsmanship or a specific target-shooting application. While the manufacturer is unidentified, the smooth, unchecked finish showcases the natural grain and a rich, dark patina. It shows honest wear consistent with age, including light surface scuffs and minor compression marks in the wood grain, but remains structurally sound without cracks. H 3.25", W 1.38", D 2.75". Please see photos for condition. Start price: $30 Estimate: $60 - $1,000
1408		Colt SAA Eagle & Texas Star Grips These eye-catching aftermarket grips for a Colt Single Action Army style revolver boast a rugged, frontier elegance. Crafted from a dark composite base, the panels are fitted with ornate silver-tone metal overlays featuring a patriotic "U.S." Eagle and a bold "TEXAS" Lone Star with rose-gold accents. Both panels are topped with the iconic Rampant Colt medallion. This set includes the original mounting screw. The condition is fair to good, showing significant character from age and use; there is visible cracking on the interior composite frame of the left panel, along with surface scratches, tarnish, and wear to the metallic finish across both grips. H 3", W 3", D 1" Please see photos for condition. Start price: $30 Estimate: $60 - $1,000

1409		Mahogany 9-Rifle Wood Display Cabinet Here is a handsome, traditional-style rifle cabinet crafted with cherry plywood and accented with a mahogany stain. It features a two-part construction designed for both display and secure storage. The upper glass-fronted hutch contains a felt-lined rack capable of holding 9 long guns, while the lower base provides a spacious two-tier cabinet for ammunition or cleaning supplies. The piece showcases classic crown molding and a clean, recessed-panel design that fits perfectly in a study or trophy room. The back is constructed of sturdy unfinished plywood. It is in overall good condition, with minor surface scuffs and light wear consistent with age and use. The glass is intact and the hardware is functional. The entire cabinet sits on casters, which allows it to be easily moved. Please see photos for overall condition. H 77.25", W 35.5", D 19.25". *Due to the size/weight/fragility of this item, it will require a pickup or customer-arranged 3rd-party shipping. We will contact you with reputable transport companies after the auction. Start price: $130 Estimate: $250 - $10,000

1450		Vintage Winchester Pheasant Advertising Print This vintage Winchester advertising piece showcases a vibrant Ring-necked Pheasant in mid-flight, is a classic hallmark of mid-century Western-Winchester sporting imagery. Featuring the iconic red "Western Winchester" typography, this large-scale print captures the quintessential aesthetic of the Great American outdoorsman era. The artwork is housed in a substantial rustic wood frame that complements the autumnal tones of the field scene. The piece shows signs of age and exposure; there is water staining and foxing along the top and bottom margins of the print, and the backing paper on the reverse is torn. The wooden frame has minor scuffs and surface wear consistent with age, but remains structurally sound. Please see photos for overall condition. H 45.5", W 31.25", D 1.5" Start price: $70 Estimate: $140 - $1,000

1451		Framed 1907 Winchester H.R. Poore Hound Print This quintessential piece of sporting advertising features the iconic "Bear Hounds" artwork by Henry Rankin Poore (1859–1940). Originally commissioned by the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. of New Haven, Connecticut, this 1907 lithograph was produced by the American Lithographic Co. in New York. Poore, a Philadelphia-based artist, was renowned for his ability to capture the soulful, rugged character of hunting dogs, making these prints highly sought after by Winchester collectors and sporting art enthusiasts alike. The piece is housed in a dark wood frame with a gold-toned inner border. Condition is good; the lithograph shows age-related wear, including several cracks and creases in the left corners and by the center dog's body. The frame is structurally sound and shows minor scuffs and surface wear. Please see photos for overall condition. H 30.5", W 40.25", D 1.5" Start price: $600 Estimate: $1,200 - $10,000
1452		Vintage Framed Winchester Ammunition Advertisement This is a vintage print of the iconic Winchester Repeating Arms Co. "Double W" cartridge board, originally produced in the late 19th century. Overall, it is a high-quality tactical piece for the serious blade collector. Knife in box: L 15.25", W 3.25", H 2.25" Start price: $250 Estimate: $450 - $10,000
1458		PRISTINE Al Mar Warrior Fighting Knife & Sheath An Al Mar Warrior fighting, crafted in Seki, Japan is an iconic fighting knife originally manufactured in Seki City, Japan. Regarded as a "grail" knife by some collectors, it was designed specifically for close-quarters combat and is distinguished by its unique curved blade and aggressive spine serrations. Featuring the iconic red chop mark and "AL MAR" stamp, this piece showcases a polished 7.5-inch stainless steel blade with a deep recurve and aggressive saw-back serrations. The handle is constructed from textured black Neoprene for a superior wet-weather grip, finished with a heavy-duty stainless steel crossguard and a hexagonal pommel with a lanyard hole. Included is the original high-quality black leather belt sheath with a snap-closure retaining strap. The knife is in excellent, like new condition, showing no surface wear on the blade and light scuffing on the leather sheath. Box is not original to the knife. Please see photos for overall condition. Knife in box: L 15.25", W 3.25", H 2.25" Start price: $400 Estimate: $700 - $10,000
1470		Bass Hunter Boat with Trailer & Motor This is a Bass Hunter two-man pontoon-style fishing boat, a favorite for pond and small lake enthusiasts due to its stability and easy transport. This particular setup features two adjustable swivel seats on elevated frames, a rugged plastic hull construction, and a Mercury Thruster electric trolling motor. The lot includes a single-axle Karavan boat trailer with a spare tire and various accessories (boat fender and ropes). The overall assembly shows signs of regular outdoor use, including fading on the red hull stripes, some weathering on the carpeted floor section, and typical scuffs and debris from storage. The trailer shows some surface oxidation on the frame and the tires are in good condition and hold air. Total measurements of the boat: L 9'6" and H 4'1" Note: Pickup/Transport required. Contacts available post auction. Start price: $300 Estimate: $600 - $10,000

1471		Capri Cyclone-13 Recreational Sailing Dinghy Capri Cyclone-13 recreational Sailing Dinghy. Designed by Frank V. Butler, this model was built in 1970 and is number 2321 of 2400 examples produced. Dataplate on aft part of hull. Built predominantly of fiberglass with foam flotation. It has a stayed catboat rig with a short forestay, aluminum spars, a flexible mast and a loose-footed mainsail with mid-boom sheeting and a full cockpit width mainsheet traveler. The hull design features a spooned raked stem, a vertical transom, a transom-hung fiberglass rudder controlled by a tiller and a retractable fiberglass daggerboard. There is a forward compartment for stowage, closed by a hatch. The boat displaces 145 lb (66 kg) and is capable of planing. The design has a draft of 2.83 ft (0.86 m) with the daggerboard extended and 0.42 ft (13 cm) with it retracted, allowing beaching or ground transportation on a trailer or car roof rack. Length overall 13 feet. Width 4.92 feet. Condition of dinghy is fair. Beltline bump strip is cracked in many places and should be replaced. It is weathered, but looks to be complete with 3 piece mast, sail and rudder. With a little TLC it should be ready for a three-hour tour... a three-hour tour. Please see photos. Note: Pickup/ Transport required. Contacts available post auction. Start price: $200 Estimate: $400 - $600
1472		1960's Aluma Craft Aluminum Fishing Boat A classic "tinny" from a great American boat builder, this is an Aluma Craft aluminum fishing boat. This simple, lightweight boat is perfect for getting out on the local pond or small lake for a day of fishing. The aluminum hull appears to be in fair, serviceable condition with the expected scuffs and scratches from use. This is a great project boat, as all three wooden bench seats are in poor condition with heavy paint flaking and some wood rot, and will need to be replaced. The boat carries a Wisconsin registration number on the bow. H 2', W 54", L 14". Note: Pickup/ Transport required. Contacts available post auction. Start price: $100 Estimate: $200 - $500
1473		Taxidermy Ring-Necked Pheasant Mount Male Ring-necked Pheasant taxidermy professionally mounted in a majestic upright standing pose. This taxidermy showcases the vibrant iridescent plumage characteristic of the pheasant, featuring the signature white neck ring, deep copper breast feathers, and a remarkably long, well-preserved tail. It is securely perched upon a naturalistic weathered driftwood log base, making it an ideal addition to a library, den, or rustic lodge setting. Overall, the piece is in very good condition with the feathers retaining excellent color and sheen. Please see photos for overall condition. H 17", W 7", D 28.5" *Note: Pickup/Transport required. Contacts available post auction. Start price: $100 Estimate: $200 - $10,000
1474		Full Strut Wild Turkey Taxidermy Mount A full-body taxidermy mount of a mature Wild Turkey expertly posed in a full strut to showcase its magnificent plumage and dominant stature. The mount features a thick "beard," prominent red caruncles, and a fan of tail feathers that displays the characteristic iridescent bronze and copper tones of a healthy tom. The bird is set upon a custom-contoured base finished with naturalistic gravel, a weathered log, and silk floral accents, making it a ready-to-display centerpiece for any lodge or trophy room. The piece is in good overall condition, though there is some feather separation and light fraying on feathers. Please see photos for overall condition. H 37", W 28", D 22.5" *Note: Pickup/Transport required. Contacts available post auction. Start price: $100 Estimate: $200 - $10,000
